Dr. E. Walter Coward Jr.

Dear Dr. Coward,

I have just returned from California where I had the pleasure of interviewing Don Villarejo of the California Institute for Rural Studies. We are currently filming a prime time documentary for CBS News about migrant farming in the United States. It is a follow up to the 1960 broadcast called, "Harvest of Shame."

As I'm sure you can imagine, C.I.R.S. has become a fabulous resource for us in the completion of our work. Don Villarejo's interview will certainly be the most informative of the broadcast.

To adequately describe his help would force me to mix too many metaphors, so I'll simply state that it was a real pleasure to come upon someone with such passion for his work and such willingness to share his knowledge with others.

If outreach is part of his mission, then; mission accomplished.

Sincerely,
